

TUTORIAL GUIDE FOR STUDENTSWEEK 2

TOPIC	LEARNING OUTCOME (ABLE TO)
Allocation of groups to their tutor and tutorial room	know and understand each other better
Critical review of the article: The Algorithmic Revolution	analyse a source of evidence according to specific criteria and explain that to others
Group profile and capability assessment	follow the instructions in the assignment sections 3.1, 3.2 and 4

1. ALLOCATION OF GROUPS TO ROOMS

- There are three tutorial rooms: New Law School Annexe SR 340, SR 344, and SR 346.
- Three groups of six are to go to each tutorial room with their Tutor and introduce themselves to each other. We will tell you which room is for your group.

2. ARTICLE REVIEW

Follow the steps in the document: Article Review Week 2 in the Week 2 module on Canvas.

3. GROUP PROFILE AND CAPABILITY ASSESSMENT

1. Go to the instructions for this in the Week 2 module on Canvas,
2. Follow section 3.1 of the instructions in the document Group profile and capability assessment and use the document: My strengths and areas for improvement to reflect on and start recording. You do this step individually but you are free to discuss it in your groups; or not, as you wish. You do not need to finish this in the tutorial; you can complete it out of class.
3. If time permits, start on section 3.2 in the tutorial as a group. Complete it out of class.
4. Coordinators of group: make sure that the members of the group understand what the group needs to do in sections 3.2 and 4 and how you will arrange to collaborate on this before the due date.
5. Look at the document Guidelines for managing your team in the Week 2 module on Canvas. These are for you to use for reference during the semester.
